International Research Conference on Global Citizenship Education

Hosted by

UNESCO Chair in Global Learning and Global Citizenship Education UCLA Graduate School of Education & Information Studies

and

The Paulo Freire Institute-UCLA

Monday, February 8, 2016

9am to 430pm

Hacienda Room
UCLA Faculty Center

Global Citizenship Education (GCE) is a central target of the post-2015 education agenda for the United Nations Millennium Development Goals. However, many questions remain regarding the nature and possibilities of educational initiatives that can foster GCE. The International Research Conference on Global Citizenship Education will provide a much-needed cooperative and dialogical academic space where over twenty international experts through regional perspectives and from multiple disciplines will present innovative approaches, best-practices, and critiques concerning theories, methodologies, policies, and pedagogies of GCE.

The UNESCO Chair in Global Learning and Global Citizenship Education at the University of California-Los Angeles (UCLA) Graduate School of Education & Information Studies, and the Paulo Freire Institute-UCLA will host the conference held on Monday, February 8 in the Hacienda Room of the UCLA Faculty Center.

This is a free conference open the UCLA community and beyond. Please find schedule below.
